

Goldsmith and Hand-weaver opens store in Capa Haus.

Jewellery and accessories with an eco-friendly focus.

Leipzig 05.11.2018 – Robyn Chamberlain, Canadian goldsmith and hand-weaver, opens store and studio in historic Capa Haus Leipzig. Offering a range of contemporary jewellery and hand-woven scarves, crafted with ethically sourced materials.

Robyn Chamberlain's new store in Lindenau is set up with the primary goal of offering modern, high-quality accessories that provide customers with the opportunity to make ethically responsible purchases.

Robyn's motivation: 'My own frustration with the gap between increasing environmental concerns and the availability of eco-friendly products was the main reason for transitioning my practice to a more environmentally conscious one.'

Jewellery:

Customers can look forward to hand-fabricated jewellery with an emphasis on fair-trade gold, recycled silver and fair-mined gemstones. The jeweller's workbench is always within view, providing a look at the tools and techniques involved in jewellery making.

Weaving:

All textiles are hand-woven on the refurbished loom located in the studio, allowing customers a closer look at the process behind hand-weaving. Scarves are created using varying combinations of organic cotton, linen and wool.
